1. Contact every player who is drafted onto your team; introduce yourself and notify them of practices.
2. Hold organized practices, while constantly providing supervision.
3. Emphasize development of basic sports skills, strategies, and sportsmanship.
4. While players are at your practices or games, you should exercise reasonable care in providing them with a safe atmosphere for their physical and mental well-being.
5. Make sure all of your players know their game schedule. You must make all of your players aware of any sport modifications of this association.
